

The Chorallaries of MIT

Welcome to SPLASH!

WHO WE ARE

We're the Chorallaries --- MIT's oldest co-ed, competitive a cappella group! We make all our music with our voices, from huge solos down to sick drum beats. Started over IAP of 1977, we're comprised of an eclectic group of students coming together from all walks of life to contribute to making great music.

While we enjoy popularity on campus, we have also gained national recognition from participating in a cappella competitions, producing award-winning CD's, and traveling throughout the country.

RETREAT

Each fall, the Chorallaries of MIT pack their bags and head for the mountains. A long-held tradition, our retreat brings members away from the 'Tute to the pristine, idyllic wilds of Vermont.

This three-day escape from the busy student life at MIT is a chance for members to relax, catch up, and, of course, make some music! More importantly, this is an opportunity for members to forge bonds that will last a lifetime. Chorallaries isn't just an a cappella group — ask any member! We

COMPETITION

A group of approximately 12 people, mostly young adults, are performing on a stage. They are dressed in red shirts and black ties or suspenders. Several members have their arms raised in the air, and they are holding microphones, suggesting they are singing or speaking. The background is a dark wood-paneled wall. The overall atmosphere is energetic and celebratory.

Our group is unique among the other a cappella groups at MIT in that we compete in competitions on every scale, including the International Championships of Collegiate A Cappella (ICCA) and the WERS All A Cappella Live Competition, where we were back-to-back champions in 2012 and 2013.

TOUR

Every couple of years, we go on tour to a new, fun destination. Just this past spring break, we visited New Orleans where we had a blast touring the city, eating amazing food, and of course, singing and hanging out with each other! We get to bond even more and form new memories that we will always cherish.
